Spring Planting

While there are large quantities of perennials planted in the fall and found satisfactory by many specialists, at the same time there are many who prefer to do their planting in the spring. It is true conditions in the spring are also ideal for planting. However, it is important that you make your plantings as early as possible so that the material can become well established before dry weather arrives.

After planting, it is important that you carefully watch the plants and water them well when needed. There is always a good profit in flowers from hardy perennials. Therefore, they are well worth the extra attention that you give them for the first few weeks after planting.

My Dear Friend:-

We invite you to carefully check over this, our new spring wholesale hardy plant catalog. We have exercised great care and in accordance with our best judgment, are listing only worthwhile material. You, our customers, are aware that we spare nothing in the search for new material and purchase it immediately when obtainable.

Before offering this for sale, we ourselves plant it out in average locations and fully test it. Only if we are convinced that it is really worthy, we offer same to our customers. This requires a great deal of patience and expense. However, it is done for your interest; accordingly, in purchasing from our catalog, you are automatically relieved of spending your hard-earned money for material of little value.

In checking through this book, you will discover that some of our plants are offered from pots. Many are obtainable only in this form, while others transplant much better by this method. These will be properly established and in good condition so that you will receive outstanding results the first season.

We are known in the entire trade for our square dealings. If you happen to be one who has not yet made a purchase from us, we sincerely ask that you give us a trial. We assure you that at all times you will receive good quality at reasonable prices.

Sincerely yours,

Joseph F. Martin

When Flowers Are Scarce - - - Here is the Answer

Here is a basket any florist can produce with a small investment. Please note we have used about 16 nice spikes of Liatris Pycnostachya, 18 nice stalks of Hemerocallis Kwanso Fl. Pl. and a small bunch of Artemesia Silver King for filler.

These items are very easily grown, succeeding in almost any type of soil. Flowers were cut the second week in August from our nursery rows, just at the time of the year when flowers as a rule are very scarce.

100 plants each of the three items used in the basket will require an investment of about $21.00. These 300 plants will furnish you for many years with a good supply of cut flowers for use in various floral arrangements.

New and Unusual Perennials

We are continuously being called on for unusual plants. It is a problem to understand just what is meant by unusual. This depends a great deal on the source of the question. Even the newer sorts sometimes are not unusual to the perennial experts, while to the average buyer almost any plant that is not continuously listed would be considered unusual.

We have here an assortment that may not all be strictly new. On the other hand they are of a type for which we continuously receive inquiries. We have good quantities of all varieties listed on this page and are able to take care of your requirements at reasonable prices.

Gypsophila Repens Bodgeri

A new variety, growing to a height of 12 inches with a spread of about 24 inches the first season. Produces double white flowers which in three or four days turn to flesh pink. It is an everbloomer, flowering from early spring until late fall. For the reason that the flowers resemble the Gypsophila Bristol Fairy, we feel sure you will find this plant very valuable. It is possible for you to cut flowers with 12 inch stems for use in your floral arrangements at times when Bristol Fairy is off crop. The stems can be wired and raised to fit into almost any type of design.

While Bodgeri is very valuable for cutting purposes, at the same time it is the most wonderful little plant for rock gardens or border effects. We are convinced that in time to come it will enjoy the same popularity as our well known Gypsophila Bristol Fairy.

We will have large quantities ready for delivery from first of March on.

This Gypsophila is now too well known for detailed description. We have for sale this spring a real nice planting of field grown roots which are of outstanding quality. For the best results it is advisable to plant these as early in spring as possible. In December cover them slightly with corn stalks or straw, just enough to keep the winter sun away from them. This covering of course should be removed in early spring.

The plants we ship now will produce for you this summer a good crop of flowers. If this crop is cut clean, the plants will continue to produce for you a scattering of flowers over your field, coming back with a real good crop in September.

Daisy Double White Swan

A Wonderful New Double Variety

This is without question the best Double Daisy that we have ever grown. The flowers are uniform and of good size, comparing with the Double Pyrethrums. Good two year old established clumps will produce from 15 to 30 pure white flowers per plant on strong wiry stems 24 to 30 inches in length. They flower for Memorial Day and continue throughout the month of June.

The photograph displayed above shows that the flowers can be used to advantage. While we made this vase entirely with these New Daisies and Asparagus Plumosus, they also work in well with almost any combination of flowers and wonderful effects can be created.

We were recently informed by one of our customers who purchased a large quantity late last fall that he was very successful in forcing this Daisy in his greenhouses throughout the winter. The flowers were even more beautiful under glass than what we claim for them outdoors. Considering their value for outdoor flowers, also their indoor forcing, we have here one of the best plant introductions of recent years. Please note our attractive price.

Two year field grown clumps for delivery throughout the entire spring and again from July 1 on.

The Koreans are distinct from the regular type of Chrysanthemums, due of course to their new shades of colors. These introductions were selected, having in mind to give you an entirely new race with new colors.

Our propagations are made from strong established field grown plants which of course are disease free. Therefore, you may be assured that you will receive from us rooted cuttings and pot plants of first class quality.

ERICA OR CALLUNAHARDY HEATHER

We have grown Ericas for four years and are continuing a large propagation. In the months of July and August practically all varieties are in full flower and they are really magnificent, so different than most plants. They are an evergreen, at the same time producing flowers the full length of the stems and are very ornamental.

We are convinced that there is nothing that can be used to the same advantage as the Ericas or Callunas for bordering a planting of Azaleas or Rhododendrons. They also make a nice showing in rock gardens, thriving in acid soil and for shady locations will do well in neutral soil. Taking into consideration their value for these types of plantings they are worth a great deal.

Peonies

It has been said that the Peonies are the poor man's Rhododendron. We believe that they are even more than that. When they are once planted and become established they last for many years. Their deep green foliage is always an ornament in any style of planting. In addition to the foliage, in season the Peonies produce flowers that everyone really admires. They are very easily cared for and with each year they continue to get better.

You will find our prices are very reasonable. Whether you buy small or large quantities you will find our Peonies a real good investment.

Attractive Bridesmaid Arrangement

A beautiful design made up with Amarilla Belladonna and Buddleia. From a florist standpoint we do not know of another shrub that you can get as much from as a small planting of Buddleia. If the dry wood is removed early each spring, 50 to 100 plants will provide plenty of flowers for the average florist's use for many years. The design above proves that Buddleia fits in well with almost any arrangement if proper flowers are used for harmony. We are listing the most suitable varieties for special designs like above both in pot plants and field grown on Page. 12.

It branches throughout its early stages and is very satisfactory for hanging baskets, wall vases, or the regular Ivy bowls. Quantities of these are continuously used in large public buildings; apparently they have proven very satisfactory for the purpose.
